REPOST: Google Censorship Panic — Uncensored Evidence From Adixanarchy's Thread #178950

bug

Bitu79 1 August 21, 2026, 5:30pm

Google moderators just deleted the entire thread #178950 started by Adixanarchy. Why the censorship panic? Are the backend server logs and the plagiarism exposure getting too hot for Mountain View?

They nuked his thread just to wipe out my comments and the proof of how I caught him plagiarizing my months of data fraud research. You can delete the database, but you cannot delete independent web archives.

(Copy & paste the link above into your browser to read the full 43+post war that Google just tried to erase!)

My original research, the 55-day illegal retention math, and Google Issue 549200359 remain 100% exposed. Stop panicking and provide a technical response! 💩

@Adixanarchy The original thread was deleted by Google, but the fight is not over. Come over to this new thread and drop your comments here. We need to keep pushing for answers together! 💪

Even though they nuked that thread, my comment #8 in my active thread has the exact embedded quote text and all screenshots from the deleted topic completely preserved and ALIVE right here on this forum! They couldn’t wipe it!

Check comment #8 right here:

My original research, the 55-day illegal retention math, and Google Issue 549200359 remain 100% exposed. What part of this is too high for you to grasp? Stop panicking and provide a technical response! 💩

I have archived the original deleted thread URL once again on Archive.today to permanently record and prove that Google has hidden and removed the entire topic from the forum.
